QUICK RULES • No worksheets, no complicated setup

1 SET UP

Cut out and shuffle the cards. Sit in a circle. You need a 15-second timer and a pencil. Choose a starting player. The person to their left reads the first card and keeps its answers hidden.

2 NAME THREE

The reader says “Name 3…” and reads only the challenge. Start the timer AFTER the full question is read. The answering player gives three different, sensible answers before time ends. No hints from the reader during the turn.

3 CHECK IT TOGETHER

Three valid answers earn the card: 1 card = 1 point. The printed examples are suggestions, not the only correct answers. Accept other answers that fit. Similar versions of the same answer count once. If an answer is unclear, ask for a quick explanation after the timer.

4 LEARN + MOVE ON

After the turn, read the sample answers and learning tip aloud, even if the player earned no point. Put an unearned card in a used pile. Move clockwise: the next player answers and the person to their left reads a new card.

5 FINISH FAIRLY

The first player to five points triggers the final round. Keep going until everyone has had the same number of turns. Highest score wins; ties share the win. If the deck runs out first, finish that round using shuffled used cards, then compare scores.

MAKE IT WORK FOR YOUR GROUP

More thinking time: use 30 seconds or remove the timer. Larger group: play in two teams and rotate speakers; teammates may help. If an answer is disputed, check a trusted source or agree to replace that challenge with a fresh card. Nobody needs to share personal money details.
